

Quality Policy

It is the policy of Nobisco Limited to provide excellent products and services which provide high levels of customer satisfaction by supplying appropriate goods in a prompt, professional, helpful manner, and with the minimum use natural resources. To underpin this intention we have generated and continually improve a Quality Management System based on the requirements of BS EN ISO 9001.

The Directors of Nobisco Limited are committed to the company's documented Quality and Management System, and to compliance with ISO 9001. This includes continual improvement in the effectiveness of the quality management system, and to meeting relevant and appropriate regulatory, statutory and legal requirements. The policy has been used to provide a framework of quality related targets and objectives which are communicated as appropriate across the business.

This Quality Policy can only be successful with the full cooperation of all Nobisco employees. Its importance and the ways in which the intent will be achieved are the subject of ongoing communication and training at all levels within the company, as well as by giving consideration to the views of other interested parties.

The Policy is communicated to all employees as part of their induction. Copies of the Policy are displayed within the organisation and are available to the general public on request. The Managing Director ensures all employees are conversant with the Policy statement and that achievable and measurable objectives to support and measure its impact are cascaded to all relevant departments within the company.
